

SOCIAL IMPACT OF DESIGN AND PHILANTHROPY

in Berlin, Germany

STUDY ABROAD OVER SPRING BREAK: MARCH 7-15, 2026

Earn 3 hours of course credit and explore historical, political, and cultural landmarks as you take a deeper look at design, society, philanthropy, and charitable impact across Berlin, Germany.

This program highlights interdisciplinary connections between nonprofit studies, interior design, and global studies. These intersections will naturally emerge as students will meet with local philanthropic agencies and nonprofits, revealing not only how interior design choices can facilitate but also how, in some cases, hinder the social mission of nonprofit organizations. These interdisciplinary connections are unique and offer a great learning and engaging experience for students in the human sciences, social sciences, and humanities.

$5,500 program fee includes:

- International flight to Germany
- All ground transportation in-country
- Hotel accommodations
- Daily breakfast
- Several group dinners
- Admission to all course-related activities

Questions? Contact
Dr. Peter Weber
(pcw0015@auburn.edu) or
Dr. Anna Ruth Gatlin
(gatliar@auburn.edu)
Applications Due
October 12